UNTANGLED MIND LLC

Community Rate & Sliding Scale

A limited number of reduced-fee appointments are available for clients whose household income makes the standard fee financially out of reach. Eligibility is based on verified household income, household size, and available openings.

Reduced-fee options

Community rate: $50 per session. Reserved for households at or below the community-rate income limits below.
Sliding scale: $150 per session. Available for eligible households within the sliding-scale income limits below.

Both options are limited in availability and duration. The intake fee, number of approved reduced-fee sessions, and assistance end or review date are established in writing before services begin. Reduced fees are not guaranteed indefinitely.

Annual household income limits

Household size	Community rate: $50	Sliding scale: $150
1	$15,960	$52,500
2	$21,640	$54,100
3	$27,320	$68,300
4	$33,000	$82,500
5	$38,680	$96,700
6	$44,360	$110,900

Practice eligibility limits for 2026. Amounts are annual income ceilings, not session allowances. For households larger than six, please contact the practice.

How eligibility is determined

Household income is counted before personal taxes and deductions. Your household includes you, a spouse or partner sharing finances, and financially supported dependents. Unrelated roommates are not automatically included. Personal spending commitments and debt payments are not deducted from income.

Income verification is required, generally pages 1-2 of your most recent federal tax return. If your income has changed or you were not required to file, current income documentation may be used. The application explains acceptable documents and what personal information to redact.

How to request assistance

Email info@untangledmind.net to request an application. The application will be sent separately through the secure client portal. Submit financial documents through the portal, not regular email. Meeting the income limits does not guarantee approval or an available opening.